

Why I Blew the Whistle on Planned Parenthood

By Sue Thayer

STORM LAKE—Last year I filed a lawsuit alleging Planned Parenthood of the Heartland fraudulently billed the residents of Iowa $28 million dollars through a cunning and complex Medicaid scheme.

The details of the suit, filed with the help of Alliance Defending Freedom, were under seal by court order until July 9, 2012. Now that the case is public, I am able to provide a bit of background regarding why I decided to file this case.

I worked as a Center Manager for Planned Parenthood for nearly 18 years. While managing the Storm Lake facility, I became aware that Planned Parenthood “illegally billed Medicaid for services related to elective abortions,” as The Des Moines Register has accurately reported.

I noticed that Planned Parenthood was getting around bans on using federal dollars—Medicaid dollars—for abortion by separately billing the steps involved in abortion. This means that our tax dollars fund nearly all of the abortion procedure except the actual fee for killing the baby.

In addition, I observed that Planned Parenthood was regularly prescribing birth control pills to women who never had any interaction with a clinician. I gradually realized this was not good medical practice when local physicians started calling to ask how so many women were obtaining prescriptions without ever seeing a doctor.

Planned Parenthood of the Heartland also mailed thousands of unrequested birth control pills under their program called “C-mail.” This was a big money maker for the abortion giant.

Planned Parenthood purchases birth control supplies at deeply discounted rates. For example, their cost for a package of Ortho TriCyclenLo was $2.98, yet a cycle of pills given or mailed to a patient would CEDAR RAPIDS—Planned Parenthood quietly changed the status on their website for their Cedar Rapids and Dubuque centers from “Abortion Referral” to “Abortion Services.” The only abortion service listed for both are “abortion pill (medication abortion)” which means these are likely webcam abortion sites.

Obamacare Rationing Explained

Frightening new board to limit life-saving care deemed “excessive”

When you listen to President Obama explain how his “Affordable Care Law” (otherwise known as “Obamacare”) will cut costs, it sounds like all the cost cutting will come from digitalizing patient records and making sure hospitals don’t charge $85 for an aspirin.

But there has been little discussion of the frightening agenda spelled out in this new law that will not only limit the treatments doctors and hospitals can give, but also prevent consumers from using their own private money for the life-saving health care measures deemed “excessive” by Obamacare’s new Independent Payment Advisory Board.

At Iowa Right to Life, we want to give you some important talking points about Obamacare, to discuss with family, friends and neighbors, who might not have the whole story.

The Obamacare federal law (deceptively tagged by Obama as the “Affordable Care Act”) is charged with cutting $716 billion from Medicare over 10 years. How exactly does that happen?

Independent Payment Advisory Board (IPAB)

This is a new 15-member board appointed by Obama and accountable to no one, charged with recommendations every two years, beginning January 15, 2015, to slow the growth in national health care expenditures below the rate of medical inflation.

New “Quality and Efficiency Measures”

One of the IPAB’s tasks is to recommend new “Quality and Efficiency Measures” for hospitals, doctors and other providers that specify what treatments can and cannot be given. These Quality and Efficiency Measures (otherwise known as “Health Care Rationing”) will not just be imposed on federally funded programs like Medicare, but also for health care paid for by private citizens and their nongovernmental health insurance.

Compliance with the Quality and Efficiency Measures will be handled by the Department of Health and Human Services, headed by none other than Kathleen Sebelius. (Former pro-abortion governor of Kansas, friend of Tiller-the-Killer and author of Obama’s birth control mandate that forces religious institutions to foot the bill for birth control.)

Think of the IPAB as the 300 lb. gorilla in the examining room with you and your doctor, telling your doctor what tests you don’t need and what medication or life-saving treatments your doctor is allowed to prescribe. Mammogram? Biopsy? Bypass? If the IPAB thinks it’s excessive, you won’t get treated.

Okay, you might think, “It just sounds like a big fat government HMO, but I have a good doctor who would go ahead and give me the tests rejected as excessive by Obama’s Independent Payment Advisory Board.”

Not so fast. Under Obamacare, if

Definitions:

What is the difference between Medicare and Medicaid?

Both are taxpayer-funded programs to help Americans cover health costs.

Medicare is for all individuals 65 and older, regardless of income, as well as some people with disabilities. It is funded through Social Security.

The four-part program includes:
Part A: Hospitalization coverage
Part B: Medical insurance
Part C: Privately purchased insurance that provides additional services and through which all Medicare services offered by Part A and Part B can be accessed.
Part D: Prescription drug coverage

What is a Medicare Advantage Plan? A Medicare Advantage Plan is a private insurance alternative to Medicare. A Medicare Advantage Plan can be an HMO (Health Maintenance Organization), PPO (Preferred Provider Organization) or PFFS (Private Fee for Service).

Medicaid provides assistance to low-income individuals to help pay for health care costs and long-term care. Medicaid is a joint federal and state program, with the federal government funding up to 50 percent of each state’s Medicaid program. Medicaid funds may also come from local government.

It is easy to see why 83% of doctors have considered quitting over Obamacare, according to a

Ad features lowan who survived mother's abortion

Reveals how Obama voted against protecting infants born alive

A new TV ad challenging President Barack Obama's radical pro-abortion views features Melissa Ohden, a Sioux City native who was born alive during an abortion attempt.

The TV ad, sponsored by The Susan B. Anthony List, draws attention to how Obama, as a State Senator in Illinois, voted four times against legislation called the "Born Alive Infants Protection Act" that would have required that babies born alive during an abortion could not be denied life-saving care.

The legislation was a response to the problem that some babies were surviving abortion attempts, but because they were supposed to be aborted, medical personnel were leaving them to die.

See the video of the ad, "How will you answer?" at: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gwFIEprF_9Y

I am going to tell you something you might not know. Many children—more than you might think—actually survive failed abortions and are born alive.

I know, because I'm one of them.

I was aborted and my body discarded like I didn't exist. But a nurse heard me crying and cared enough to save my life.

There's something else you may not know. When he was in the Illinois State Senate, Barack Obama voted to deny basic, constitutional protections for babies born alive from an abortion—not once—but four times.

I know it's by the grace of God I'm alive today, if only to ask America this question: Is this the kind of leadership that will move us forward? That would discard the weakest among us? How will you answer?

For more information on Melissa Ohden, visit <http://www.melissaohden.com>

How about Obama's radical views on abortion?

We've heard a lot of raging on the left about Mitt Romney and Paul Ryan's views on abortion, but the mainstream media has not bothered to ask about Obama's views on abortion, which are so far outside what most Americans believe. Here's a look at a few of them:

Infanticide: Obama would let infants born alive die

As an Illinois State Senator, Obama voted against legislation that would have provided care and protection for babies that were born alive after an abortion.

Against Parental Notification

Obama voted to block a bill that would have required an abortionist to notify at least one parent before performing an abortion on a minor girl from another state.

For Taxpayer Funded Abortions

Obama voted against legislation in the Illinois State Senate that prohibited taxpayer dollars from being used to pay for abortion. His campaign has stated that he "does not support" the Hyde Amendment, which prohibits taxpayer funding of abortion through Medicaid.

Co-Sponsored FOCA

Remember the Freedom of Choice Act (FOCA) that we worked so hard against, signing petitions and sending cards to the White House? Obama co-sponsored the sweeping legislation that would have made partial-birth abortion legal again, require taxpayer funding of abortion, and invalidate virtually all state and federal limitations on abortion, such as parental notification laws.

For Sex Selection Abortions

Earlier this year, Obama opposed the Prenatal Nondiscrimination Act (H.R. 3541), a bill to prohibit the use of abortion for purposes of sex selection in the United States (5/30/12)

The Iowa congressmen were divided on the bill on Sex Selection Abortions. Reps. Steve King and Tom Latham voted to ban sex selection abortions and Reps. Braley, Boswell and Loeb sack voted to keep allowing sex selection abortions.

MEAN GIRLS: Planned Parenthood's Cecile Richards Tries to Bully Paul Ryan

Planned Parenthood is notorious for bullying. They bullied the Susan Komen Foundation into paying them, even though they don't do mammograms. They bully legislators into handing over millions in taxpayer funding.

And we know Planned Parenthood here in Iowa shakes down poor women for donations, while they make the rest of the world think they are giving out free health care. (See Sue Thayer's story "Why I blew the whistle on Planned Parenthood" on Page 1) In fact, they charge poor women for things like pregnancy tests that they could get at other clinics for free.

So this latest letter from Planned Parenthood CEO Cecile Richards emailed out to abortion enthusiasts urging them to send mean letters to try and intimidate newly-minted GOP Vice Presidential candidate Paul Ryan, should come as no surprise. It's what they do. Here is Cecile's form letter:

Dear Mr. Ryan,

NO WAY. NO HOW. NOT EVER.

There's no way I can support your candidacy for vice president of the United States of America.

Not when you're committed to banning safe and legal abortion, even for women who are the victims of incest and rape.

Not when you've co-sponsored a truly radical bill that would define "personhood" as beginning at conception — which could have outlawed all abortion and even many forms of birth control, including the pill.

Not when you are determined to shut down Planned Parenthood health centers and cut women off from health care.

I stand with millions of people across the country who believe in maintaining and increasing access to health care and funding for women's health in telling you that there is no way, no how we will let someone like you be elected vice president. Not this November. Not ever.

Signed, IA

Ridiculous, isn't it? Well, it's time to say we're just not going to take any more bullying from the Mean Girls at Planned Parenthood.

Love Conquers All

As pro-lifers, we know love conquers all. So to counteract Planned Parenthood's "Mean Girl" bully letters, we want you to show Paul Ryan some love.

Here is our form letter for you to send or you can write your own.

Dear Mr. Ryan,

Thank you for holding the line on pro-life issues.

I could not be more proud of you and I can't wait to vote for the team of you and Mitt Romney this November.

We're tired of our tax money being turned over to Planned Parenthood, an organization that lies to women, profits off of women in poverty and through abortion kills off the equivalent of a kindergarten class in Iowa every two days.

The majority of Americans are pro-life and I stand with them in supporting your bid for vice president.

You rock!

Spread the love! Send support to VP Candidate Paul Ryan result in a bill to Medicaid for $35. The taxpayer funded Medicaid program then reimbursed Planned Parenthood $26.32 per cycle. This is a profit of $23.34 per cycle.

Unwanted pills were often returned to Planned Parenthood, but instead of crediting Medicaid or destroying the returned pills, they were resold and Medicaid was billed yet another $35 for the same pack of pills. This means that for their $2.98 cost, Planned Parenthood was often paid $49.66 of your tax dollars.

Worse yet, Planned Parenthood employees were instructed to solicit a "voluntary donation" from every Medicaid eligible woman. We were told to ask for a payment of 50% of their total bill, plus $10 per cycle of pills.

Nearly all clients, even very low-income women, felt obligated to pay, but this "voluntary payment" never appeared on the Medicaid bill. Every service and supply was billed at full cost even if the patient made a very large "donation."

I know of no other medical provider that requests a payment from Title 19 patients.

In short, it became increasingly clear to me that not all of Planned Parenthood's policies and protocols were completely legal and ethical. I came to realize just how extensive the questionable practices were and decided that I must speak up. I believe I was terminated by Planned Parenthood when I voiced opposition to their latest scheme, telemed abortions.

For all these reasons, my whistleblower lawsuit against Planned Parenthood of the Heartland was filed.

Sue Thayer was the former manager for Planned Parenthood in Storm Lake, Iowa. Last fall, she led the 40 Days For Life prayer vigil outside the Storm Lake PP, which later closed for good.

Rejected by The Des Moines Register: a defense of Sue Thayer

This is our second IRTL letter rejected by The Des Moines Register. (Maybe because we used the term "gaping hole" when referring to their coverage of the fraud lawsuit against Planned Parenthood?) In any case, here is the letter for you to read.

To the Editor:

The Des Moines Register did women in Iowa a great disservice by leaving a gaping hole in the (7/10/12) story about the $5.5 billion fraud lawsuit against Planned Parenthood of the Heartland – the accusation that Planned Parenthood in Iowa was paying $2.98 for birth control pills and charging the government (Medicaid) $26.32 for the same pills. Also, that Planned Parenthood was coercing donations out of low-income women and then billing Medicaid for the full reimbursement.

Somehow, asking patients for contributions is controversial when the University of Iowa Hospitals does it, and less so when Planned Parenthood of the Heartland is shaking down lower income women for the same.

Planned Parenthood's CEO Jill June accuses former employee Sue

Thayer of "releasing mistruths" about Iowa's largest abortion provider. Any person who has worked with Sue Thayer will tell you she isn't capable of mistruths. She is a good person, she is an honest person and she cares about women. There are a lot of people who work for Planned Parenthood who care about women.

If you look at any accounting fraud case in major corporations, there is collusion at the top. Jill June has a history of deception, including covering up the webcam abortions that Planned Parenthood was doing secretly in Iowa as far back as 2008.

We will give The Register credit for an interesting twist. Attorney General Tom Miller issued the statement, "We reserve the right to intervene at a later date upon the showing of good cause. Though the state is not currently a litigant, it remains the real party in interest, and is entitled to the majority of damages and penalties recovered on its behalf, should that occur."

This does not sound like a closed case.

Sincerely,
Jenifer Bowen
Executive Director, Iowa Right to Life

She consults a doctor only by webcam. The doctor can remotely activate a drawer to open and provide the woman with two bottles with abortion pill drugs. The first pills, which kill the baby in the womb, are taken by the woman in front of the webcam. She takes the rest of the pills home to take later to expel the baby.

Planned Parenthood has 21 locations plus a business office in Iowa. Four locations offer both surgical and abortion pill abortions (Des Moines-Army Post Road, Iowa City, Bettendorf and Sioux City), 11 locations only offer abortion pill/RU-486 abortions. 6 centers are "abortion referral."

The abortion pill abortions are controversial, because they are more bloody, more painful and more protracted than a surgical abortion. But they are more profitable for Planned Parenthood. There is less overhead expense because the woman aborts the baby at home, where she will have to deal with the blood and the body of the baby on her own.

recent survey released by the Doctor Patient Medical Association.

According to the Life at Risk report on Obamacare from National Right to Life's Robert Powell Center for Medical Ethics, "Treatment that a doctor and patient deem needed or advisable to save that patient's life or preserve or improve the patient's health, but which runs afoul of the imposed standards will be denied, even if the patient is willing and able to pay for it."

Obamacare's IPAB will prevent even privately funded doctors from treating patients with life-saving care the IPAB thinks is "excessive."

"In effect," according to the same report, "there will be one uniform national standard of care, established by Washington bureaucrats and set with a view to limiting what private citizens are allowed to spend on saving their own lives."

New Medicare Limits

Before Obamacare, seniors in the U.S. could put out their own money on top of government plans in order to get plans that were less likely to ration care, such as a Private Fee For Service Medicare Advantage Plan.

Under Obamacare, the Department of Health and Human Services is given standardless discretion to reject any Medicare Advantage Plans.

Once again, according to NRLC's Life at Risk, "Obamacare allows Washington bureaucrats to prevent older Americans from making up the Medicare shortfall with their own funds – taking away their right to spend their own money to save their own lives.

Just who will be appointed to this Independent Payment Advisory Board? According to a Wall Street Journal editorial, "...only a minority of the board can be "directly involved" in the provision of health care."

To this, the Wall Street Journal editorial sarcastically adds, "This latter provision is supposed to prevent the alleged conflicts of interest that come from knowing something about how health care is provided in the real world. What it reveals instead is that this board isn't about medical quality at all." (Source: "Cheesecake Factory Medicine," The Wall Street Journal, 8/28/12)

Planned Parenthood said WHAT?! Sex Ed Sampler

WARNING: We are going to quote Planned Parenthood materials directly, so this will get graphic. But we want you to know the truth about Iowa's biggest abortion provider's X-rated Sex Ed.

When Planned Parenthood says money raised is going to their "Education and Outreach Program" and not to their abortion business, what exactly do they mean by "Education?"

The scary thing is, Planned Parenthood, which offers their own sex ed programming to schools wants sex ed to start in pre-school. PP's website says: "Ideally, medically accurate sexuality education would be taught each year in our schools from pre-kindergarten through 12th grade." (Source: Planned Parenthood, Implementing Sex Education)

But does Planned Parenthood's idea of "comprehensive, medically accurate" match yours?

The following are direct quotes from www.plannedparenthood.com, recommending how parents should respond to kids' questions about sex and sexuality. Is this how you would respond?

What Are Some Questions Preschoolers Ask?

Q. How do babies get in your tummy?

A. When a woman has a baby in her tummy, it is called a pregnancy. Women have tiny eggs in a special part of their tummy. Men have very tiny seeds. Sometimes, when a man and a woman have sex together, the man puts his penis in the woman's vagina. They can start a pregnancy if one of his seeds comes out his penis and joins with one of the eggs in her body. Do you have any other questions about that?

What Are Some Questions Elementary Schoolers Ask?

Q. Is it okay to touch yourself?

A. Sure, it's okay. It feels good to touch ourselves, but we should only touch ourselves in private.

What Are Some Questions Teens Commonly Ask?

Q. How big will my breasts get?

A. It depends. Breasts come in all sizes, shapes and colors. And when they're developing, they change all the time. Breasts can range from small to enormous. Whether yours are lemons or grapefruits, they're normal.

Planned Parenthood's Information for Teens

If that is what Planned Parenthood is telling you to tell your kids, ever wonder what PP's educators are telling your kids at school or over the Internet when you are not around?

Here are additional direct quotes from www.plannedparenthood.com's Info for Teens:

Do people masturbate together?

The myth is that couples don't masturbate together — they always have other kinds of sex. The truth is that many couples enjoy watching each other masturbate. Many like to masturbate themselves to orgasm after other kinds of sex. "Mutual masturbation" is also a great way to have safer sex and to prevent unwanted pregnancy.

(Reality check: When you hear about Planned Parenthood's plan to prevent unwanted pregnancy, did you think it involved telling teens about mutual masturbation? When you fund

PARENTAL ADVISORY: What is Planned Parenthood telling your kids when you are not around? You might be surprised.

Planned Parenthood's education program, this is the type of information you promote. Read on.)

If I masturbate with an object, can it give me a sexually transmitted infection?

The myth is that masturbation can cause sexually transmitted infections. When it comes to using objects, it's not possible unless more than one person is using the object. Infections can be spread if objects are shared and someone has an infection.

Condoms can be used on toys that go into the vagina or anus if partners want to share them. Use a new condom for each partner — and for each part of the body. Sex toys need to be cleaned — different toys have different cleaning instructions.

What does Planned Parenthood's Info for Teens Say About Abortion?

Planned Parenthood's language to teens makes abortion sound like a picnic. Comprehensive, medically accurate? Not even close.

Having an Abortion

Abortion is a legal and safe procedure. Most women say that early abortion feels like menstrual cramps. Some say it feels very uncomfortable. Others feel very little physical discomfort.

Serious, long-term emotional problems after abortion are rare. Most women feel relieved. Some women experience anger, regret, guilt or sadness for a short time. Women are more likely to experience serious regrets after abortion if they have strong religious feelings against it.

*Many teenagers want to consult their parents before an abortion. But telling a parent is not required in all states. Find out what the laws are in your state. (This links to a page on state laws, which says: To find out more about the laws in your state and the judicial bypass option, contact your local Planned Parenthood health center.)*

Why would Planned Parenthood think any of this is appropriate? Far from preventing unplanned pregnancy, Planned Parenthood wants kids sexualized at a younger age, so they will experiment with sex, get pregnant and fuel Planned Parenthood's abortion business. As their website shows, if teens don't want to tell their parents about an abortion, Planned Parenthood will help them get around that. So what can we do?

1. Kick Planned Parenthood out of your schools

Meet with the school board, the principal and other administrators. Use this information and collect more information from Planned Parenthood's website as ammunition. Team up with like-minded parents.

2. Opt Your Child Out of Sex Education at School

The Iowa Code allows all parents to opt their children out of Health, as well as Human Growth and Development classes.

To opt out, parents simply need to submit a letter to the principal each year for each child. We highly recommend this to protect your children. Iowa Right to Life has a sample Opt Out letter you may use.
